ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Your definition of a "Methodist handshake" brought back some wonderful memories.

Many years ago, when I was sweet 16, a handsome chap who was a couple of years older, asked me to go to the downtown recreation center.

We played table tennis, did a little imitation tap dancing, and harmonized with the piano player who had a handlebar mustache.

When we reached the front door, he asked if he could kiss me good night. I replied, "No. My mother wouldn't think it was very ladylike."

He looked at me in astonishment and asked, "What kind of a mother do you have, anyway?"

I shook his hand and shut the door. We moved away shortly after that and I never saw him again, but I will always remember that wonder "Methodist handshake."

Dear Ohio: Thank you for a delightful letter. If more 1967 evenings ended with a Methodist handshake my mail would be a lot tighter.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a woman in my middle 20s who learned awfully late what life was all about.

Last winter I became ill and lost my job. A man I knew slightly took an interest in me.

Gradually we drifted into an intimate relationship. He moved in and we are now living together. This man is everything I want in a husband.

How can I get him to make this arrangement legal? I want a family - WIFE WITH NO NAME.

Dear No Name: Stop begging. Tell the guy to move out immediately and let him know it's an order - not a request.

If he doesn't come around to your way of thinking within three months, write him off and find someone whose ideas are more like yours.

Dear Ann Landers: We have a summer cottage and we enjoy company. But we can't afford to entertain people around the clock seven days a week.

Water skiing is the big thing in this area but some folks don't realize how much it costs to run a boat hour after hour.

Dear Tapped: When you feel a certain group has had enough - simply say, "Sorry, we're out of petrol, kiddies," and don't fill the tank until they leave.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the Press-Herald.
